

Jill Gordon

Colby College

Sex Differentiation and What it Means to Be Human in Plato's Timaeus

An argument that paradoxes and incoherencies in Timaeus' account of sex differentiation show its unsustainability and reveal an exclusion at the heart of what the dialogue says it means to be human.

Harold Tarrant

University of Newcastle Australia

Unmarried male Platonists on Mourning Children How did Crantor's Peri Pentous become a model?

An analysis of the homoerotic ideals and relationships within the early Academy and their ethical, moral and political obligations.

Sara Ahbel-Rappe

University of Michigan

Socrates Between the Sheets (of Papyrus)

Reading the Mystical Visions of Love in Plato's Erotic Dialogues

A comparative approach to Plato's erotic dialogues with other homoerotic mystical literature, including the Rubaiyat of the 13th century Persian poet, Rumi, and the De amore of Marsilio Ficino.

