Commencement Address and Honorary Doctor of Laws

Angelique Albert, MBA

N. Scott Momaday, renowned Native American poet, novelist and artist, tells us that “We are what we imagine,” and our honoree and speaker today, Angelique Albert, has integrated that maxim into her life, as she has imagined possibilities and turned them into realities for Native Americans seeking formal education and opportunities too often frustrated or denied by lack of resources.

Angelique Albert, an enrolled member of the Confederate Salish & Kootenai Tribe, is a graduate of Salish Kootenai College, with degrees in Native American Studies, Liberal Arts, and a Bachelor of Arts in Human Services with an emphasis in rehabilitation. She went on to study at the University of Montana, before journeying to Gonzaga University where she earned her MBA, with a concentration in American Indian Entrepreneurship. Following her time at Gonzaga, she continued her academic journey at Dartmouth University, where she deepened her knowledge of building high performing minority businesses.

Albert’s career has been dedicated to public service and social justice, working for her Tribe’s legal and criminal justice departments. Currently, she is the Chief Executive Officer of the Native Forward Scholars Fund, an organization that supports the formal education and empowerment of Native leaders from all sectors of our society, supporting them from undergraduate through graduate and professional degrees. Since its inception fifty years ago, the Native Forward Scholars Fund has grown to become the largest provider of direct scholarships to Native students in the United States, awarding over $400 million in scholarships to more than 20,000 students from more than 50 tribes in all fifty states.

Albert has served as Vice-Chair of S&K Gaming, Board Member of the Potlatch Fund, and Executive Director of the Salish Kootenai College Foundation, accruing more than twenty-five years of leadership experiences in executive management of non-profit organizations, philanthropic bodies, business opportunities, Tribal gaming and education. In addition, she continues to practice the Jesuit magis by working with the Obama Foundation’s My Brother’s Keeper Alliance Advisory Council, and serving on the Board of the Johnson Scholarship Foundation as well as Gonzaga’s MBA-AEI Program Advisory Committee.

But her abilities and interests do not stop there. Angelique Albert demonstrates her application of that statement in the art she creates, inspiring individuals and communities. Through her unique juxtaposition of historical Native culture and contemporary America, she shapes the ordinary into the artistic, as she transforms modern objects through traditional styles and techniques – beading, hide tanning, pipe making, birch bark and pine needle basketry, and dance wear design and construction. In her imaginative applications of creativity in both work and art, she demonstrates the dictum of Steve Jobs: “Innovation distinguishes between a leader and a follower.”

In the words of Amal Clooney, “courage, as they say, is contagious. People who have had the courage to change their societies – in India, in South Africa, in the United States – inspire each other and create rights for future generations.” Angelique Albert models courage and fortitude continuously in her unceasing dedication to helping young people reach their potential and move into leadership roles of their own, prepared by the education that she makes possible through her sustainable efforts to support them. Her own words say it best: “Our scholars and alumni are the inspiration and motivation for the work that we do every day. Their accomplishments are an indicator of our success . . . they are our legacy.” Her own storied legacy has only begun to reveal itself but will continue to bear fruit for many generations to come.

In recognition of her dedication to public service, philanthropy, and social justice, and in recognition of the positive impact she is having on the lives of so many, Gonzaga University is proud to bestow on this day upon alumna Angelique Albert the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, and to welcome her with gratitude, as the distinguished speaker at this, Gonzaga’s 131st Graduate and Doctoral Commencement.

Gonzaga University Coat of Arms

The original seal adopted by the University in the early nineties depicted an eagle with protectively spread wings surrounded by the name, Gonzaga University. The new seal, designed about 1914, took the form of a coat of arms and has been used on all degrees, medals, and formal documents since that time.

The eagle of the original seal was retained. It perches, with wings still spread protectively, atop a coat of arms in the form of a shield.

The dexter chief hatchment contains two gray wolves with forepaws upon a black pot and chain on a field of white. This represents the House of Loyola (lobo-y-olla, i.e., the wolves and the pot), Ignatius Loyola being the founder of the Society of Jesus (Jesuits). The pride of the House of Loyola was that it fed the poor and kept the wolf from its door.

In the bottom right hatchment (sinister base), there are depicted the arms of the House of Gonzaga, a purple cross sustaining an inescutcheon, the lions of Florence, and three purple bars for the ecclesiastical dignity of the House. The four falcons in the corners of the escutcheon represent the hunting prowess of the family.

In the upper right (sinister chief), in the colors of Spain, are seven red bars on a field of gold, given to the House of Onez by the King, because seven brothers of that House distinguished themselves in the service of Spain.

In the bottom left (dexter base), are a sunburst over the Spokane Falls, a pine tree and an Indian tepee. All are representative of the Spokane community, which is named for the Spokane Indians. Spokane means children of the sun.

The eagle in the crest is the American bald eagle of the Republic and the symbols above: the IHS is the name of Jesus, His cross, and the three nails of His crucifixion. In the crest the nails and lettering are black with a surrounding halo of gold. The in-escutcheon in the center of the shield carries an immaculate white G on a field of royal blue, the colors of the University.

The scroll carries the letters AMDG, which stand for Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam (To God's Greater Glory), the motto of the Society of Jesus as given to it by its founder, Saint Ignatius Loyola. Under the scroll is the year of the University's founding, 1887. The wreath of bay leaves on the right represents classic renown and the wreath of oak on the left signifies civic pride.

Academic Regalia

College and university graduation ceremonies are resplendent with color. One is likely to see almost every color in the spectrum, representing scholarly achievement in many academic fields.

Based upon the costumes worn at universities in the 14th and 15th centuries, today's American academic dress was standardized in 1895. It includes the familiar square mortarboard cap symbolizing the commitment of the scholar to a life of building. It has a tassel which may be black or an appropriate color (e.g., gold for those with a doctoral degree, purple for law). The custom of shifting the cap's tassel from the right side to the left signifies the conferring of the degree. Three styles of gowns and hoods represent bachelor's, master's, and doctor's degrees.

The bachelor's gown usually has long pointed sleeves, while the master's gown has a long crescent-shaped sleeve. The doctor's has a very full, bell-shaped sleeve with three velvet bands matching the velvet facing of the gown opening. The velvet on the doctor's gown often is the color appropriate to the wearer's field of study.

Of the three styles of hoods, the doctor's is naturally the most elaborate. All three hoods are made of material to match the gowns and are lined in the official color of the institution which conferred the degree, with a chevron used for a second color if needed. (Gonzaga's colors are blue and white.) The colored velvet binding indicates the academic area in which the degree was received—white for liberal arts, yellow for science, drab for business, purple for law, light blue for education, scarlet for theology, and so forth.

Academic Banners and Hood Colors

Commencement features the college and school banners placed on the altar. The banners represent the various schools of the University and are placed in order according to the dates the schools were established.

The College of Arts & Sciences is the original school, established in 1887. Students wear white hoods for liberal arts, yellow for science, scarlet for theology.

The Library was opened in 1887 for collaboration, study, discovery, and reflection. In 1992 it was renamed the Foley Center in honor of alumnus Ralph E. Foley and his wife Helen Higgins Foley.

The School of Law was started in 1912. Students display purple on their gowns and hoods to represent the legal field.

The School of Business Administration began in 1921. Students wear drab hoods.

The School of Education was established in 1928, and students wear light blue hoods for education, citron for counseling, and white for arts.

The School of Engineering & Applied Science began in 1934, and students wear orange for engineering, and yellow for science.

The Gonzaga in Florence Program began in 1963 and provides learning opportunities abroad across many disciplines.

The School of Nursing and Human Physiology was established in 2013, represented by apricot hoods for nursing, and yellow hoods for science.

The School of Leadership Studies was established in 2018. Students wear white for arts, crimson for communication, and dark blue for philosophy.

Presidential Chain of Office

The Gonzaga presidential chain of office, sometimes referred to as the presidential medallion, is worn as part of the president's academic attire at ceremonial occasions such as Commencement and Convocations. The chain is worn around the neck and drapes down across the chest and the back. Its design combines the Coat of Arms of the university and important dates that represent the university's history. The medallion with the Coat of Arms and the name is the focal point of the chain. 1887, the School of Law–1912, the School of Business Administration–1921, the School of Education–1928, the School of Engineering and Applied Science–1934, Gonzaga in Florence–1963, the School of Professional Studies–1975, Foley Center–1990, the School of Nursing and Human Physiology–2010, and the Center for Global Engagement–2013.

Commencement Follow-up Information

Diplomas

Diplomas are mailed within two months of the student's final semester. Be sure Zagweb has the appropriate mailing address.

The listing of graduates, degrees, and academic honors in this program is preliminary and subject to final degree requirement evaluation. The posting of the earned degree on the official transcript record in the Registrar's Office remains the official testimony of possession of the degree. The diploma of Gonzaga University, signed and sealed by its appropriate officers, is a document bearing public notification of the degree.

Ceremony Photos

Gonzaga has partnered with Pro Pics to take professional portraits of all graduates during the ceremony. There is no cost to have your photo taken and no obligation to purchase. Photos will be available for purchase after the ceremony. If you would like to receive your photo proofs, please go to www.GonzagaPhotos.com to submit your information. If you have any questions regarding photos, please contact Pro Pics at support@propicsusa.com.

National Anthems

Star Spangled Banner

*O say can you see by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
O say does that Star Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?*

O Canada!

*O Canada! Our home and native land!
True patriot love in all of us command.
With glowing hearts we see thee rise
The true north strong and free!
From far and wide, O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.
God keep our land glorious and free!
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.*
