Commencement Address and Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree
Linda M. LeMura, Ph.D.

The individual we honor today has not only been a leader and trailblazer in Catholic and Jesuit higher education, but she also serves as a major advocate for access to education for disadvantaged and marginalized students and communities. As a first-generation college student herself, Dr. LeMura ultimately rose to become the first female layperson elected president of a Jesuit higher education institution in the world.

One of six siblings of Italian immigrant parents, Dr. Linda LeMura grew up in Syracuse, New York. A three-sport athlete and honors student, she graduated from Bishop Grimes High School and went on to Niagara University where she received her Bachelor of Science, summa cum laude, in biology and education. In 1983, Dr. LeMura returned home to study at Syracuse University where she received a Master of Science and then went on to pursue her Ph.D. in applied physiology just four years later.

Dr. LeMura's professional career began at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania where she served as a professor, research scientist, and graduate program director of the Departments of Biology and Allied Health Sciences and Exercise Physiology. In 2003, she joined the Le Moyne College community serving as Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. In 2007, she took on the role of Le Moyne's Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, a role she held for seven years.

After more than ten years at the same higher ed institution, some people may look beyond their campus to see what else is out there. But not Dr. LeMura. In 2014, she was appointed the 14th President of Le Moyne College. During her presidency, Le Moyne has achieved its largest class enrollments, completed its largest capital campaign, and made the bold move to pursue a Division I opportunity, becoming a member of the Northeast Conference (NEC). She is actively engaged in the greater Syracuse community, improving the lives and education of those in the Central New York region. Dr. LeMura is also a strong advocate for increasing Pell Grants to enhance opportunities in higher education access and completion rates.

Dr. LeMura's leadership of, and contributions to, national organizations such as the Association of Jesuit Colleges and Universities, the Council of Independent Colleges, and the Association of Catholic Colleges and Universities are a testament to her dedication and the respect she has earned as a higher education leader. She was a founding delegate to the International Association of Jesuit Universities, which serves to create educational opportunities for people around the world by connecting institutions to one another.

If you were to ask Dr. LeMura what's special about Le Moyne College, she would say it's all about love. Her institution, much like Gonzaga, recognizes that every student is unique and irreplaceable, each with their own passions and gifts. In her role as President, Dr. LeMura has created a culture of encouragement, ensuring that their students have experiences that will make their story even more vibrant, complex and colorful.

As a fellow Jesuit institution, Le Moyne College recognizes the importance of cura personalis – care of the whole person. To Dr. LeMura this means ensuring that her students bring all of their talent and creativity, humor and curiosity, strengths and weaknesses. She has often shared that, "incredible things happen when you connect people and ideas," a sentiment every college and university can relate to. At Le Moyne they say, "greatness meets goodness," and we are proud and honored to have Dr. Linda LeMura here today to share with us the power of goodness, and the impact it makes for the world.

Recognizing and honoring, on this day, her decades of research, teaching, and leadership in the space of higher education, Gonzaga University is proud to bestow upon President Linda LeMura, Ph.D., the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, as we welcome her, most gratefully, to be our distinguished speaker at this, Gonzaga University's 132nd Undergraduate Commencement.

Baccalaureate Academic Honors

Degree candidates who have demonstrated exceptional academic performance and who have completed at least sixty-four Gonzaga undergraduate hours with a minimum grade point average of 3.50 are academically distinguished at the Commencement ceremony. The University further distinguishes between three levels of honors by specific grade point averages: Cum Laude for a grade point average between 3.50 and 3.69, Magna Cum Laude for a grade point average between 3.70 and 3.89, and Summa Cum Laude for a grade point average of 3.90 or higher. For the Commencement ceremony, honors are based on the cumulative grade point average as of the fall semester. Final honors are based on graduates' final grade point averages after their final term of academic course work and are printed on the student diploma and transcript. Final honors designations may differ from Commencement honors.

For candidates with 48 to 63 Gonzaga semester hours and a minimum 3.50 grade point average, with Distinction honors are designated.

Disclaimer

The listing of graduates, degrees, and academic honors in this program is preliminary and subject to final degree requirement evaluation. The posting of the earned degree on the official transcript record in the Registrar's Office remains the official testimony of possession of the degree. The diploma of Gonzaga University, signed and sealed by its appropriate officers, is a document bearing public notification of the degree.

Gonzaga University Coat of Arms

The original seal adopted by the University in the early nineties depicted an eagle with protectively spread wings surrounded by the name, Gonzaga University. The new seal, designed about 1914, took the form of a coat of arms and has been used on all degrees, medals, and formal documents since that time.

The eagle of the original seal was retained. It perches, with wings still spread protectively, atop a coat of arms in the form of a shield.

The dexter chief hatchment contains two gray wolves with forepaws upon a black pot and chain on a field of white. This represents the House of Loyola (lobo-y-olla, i.e., the wolves and the pot), Ignatius Loyola being the founder of the Society of Jesus (Jesuits). The pride of the House of Loyola was that it fed the poor and kept the wolf from its door.

In the bottom right hatchment (sinister base), there are depicted the arms of the House of Gonzaga, a purple cross sustaining an inescutcheon, the lions of Florence, and three purple bars for the ecclesiastical dignity of the House. The four falcons in the corners of the escutcheon represent the hunting prowess of the family.

In the upper right (sinister chief), in the colors of Spain, are seven red bars on a field of gold, given to the House of Onez by the King, because seven brothers of that House distinguished themselves in the service of Spain.

In the bottom left (dexter base), are a sunburst over the Spokane Falls, a pine tree and an Indian tepee. All are representative of the Spokane community, which is named for the Spokane Indians. Spokane means children of the sun.

The eagle in the crest is the American bald eagle of the Republic and the symbols above: the IHS is the name of Jesus, His cross, and the three nails of His crucifixion. In the crest the nails and lettering are black with a surrounding halo of gold. The inescutcheon in the center of the shield carries an immaculate white G on a field of royal blue, the colors of the University.

The scroll carries the letters AMDG, which stand for Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam (To God's Greater Glory), the motto of the Society of Jesus as given to it by its founder, Saint Ignatius Loyola. Under the scroll is the year of the University's founding, 1887. The wreath of bay leaves on the right represents classic renown and the wreath of oak on the left signifies civic pride.

Academic Regalia

College and university graduation ceremonies are resplendent with color. One is likely to see almost every color in the spectrum, representing scholarly achievement in many academic fields.

Based upon the costumes worn at universities in the 14th and 15th centuries, today's American academic dress was standardized in 1895. It includes the familiar square mortarboard cap symbolizing the commitment of the scholar to a life of building. It has a tassel which may be black or an appropriate color (e.g., gold for those with a doctoral degree, purple for law). The custom of shifting the cap's tassel from the right side to the left signifies the conferring of the degree. Three styles of gowns and hoods represent bachelor's, master's, and doctor's degrees.

The bachelor's gown usually has long pointed sleeves, while the master's gown has a long crescent-shaped sleeve. The doctor's has a very full, bell-shaped sleeve with three velvet bands matching the velvet facing of the gown opening. The velvet on the doctor's gown often is the color appropriate to the wearer's field of study.

Of the three styles of hoods, the doctor's is naturally the most elaborate. All three hoods are made of material to match the gowns and are lined in the official color of the institution which conferred the degree, with a chevron used for a second color if needed. (Gonzaga's colors are blue and white.) The colored velvet binding indicates the academic area in which the degree was received—white for liberal arts, yellow for science, drab for business, purple for law, light blue for education, scarlet for theology, and so forth.

Academic Banners and Hood Colors

Commencement features the college and school banners placed on the stage. The banners represent the various schools of the University and are placed in order according to the dates the schools were established.

The College of Arts & Sciences is the original school, established in 1887. Students wear white hoods for liberal arts, yellow for science, scarlet for theology.

The Library was opened in 1887 for collaboration, study, discovery, and reflection. In 1992 it was renamed the Foley Center in honor of alumnus Ralph E. Foley and his wife Helen Higgins Foley.

The School of Law was started in 1912. Students display purple on their gowns and hoods to represent the legal field.

The School of Business Administration began in 1921. Students wear drab hoods.

The School of Education was established in 1928, and students wear light blue hoods for education, citron for counseling, and white for arts.

The School of Engineering & Applied Science began in 1934, and students wear orange for engineering, and yellow for science.

The Gonzaga in Florence Program began in 1963 and provides learning opportunities abroad across many disciplines.

The School of Leadership Studies was established in 2018. Students wear white for arts, crimson for communication, and dark blue for philosophy.

The School of Health Sciences (formerly the School of Nursing and Human Physiology) was established in 2023. Students wear apricot hoods for nursing, and yellow hoods for science.

Presidential Chain of Office

The Gonzaga presidential chain of office, sometimes referred to as the presidential medallion, is worn as part of the president's academic attire at ceremonial occasions such as Commencement and Convocations. The chain is worn around the neck and drapes down across the chest and the back. Its design combines the Coat of Arms of the university and important dates that represent the university's history. The medallion with the Coat of Arms and the name is the focal point of the chain.
